Agriculture and Agribusiness

Why Cairns!

Not just an international holiday destination but a farming, fishing and manufacturing hub for Papua New Guinea and Pacific Island nations too!

As a tropical region with mountains, river flats, beaches and coastal areas Cairns and the Far North region understands the social and economic importance of agriculture and agribusiness.

Agriculture

Our farmers, suppliers and training facilities are world class. Agriculture is a sector where exchange of labour and expertise helps not only us but Papua New Guinea and Pacific Island neighbours. Investment in our region from our neighbours is welcomed – as is the opportunity for Cairns and Queensland businesses to also invest in Papua New Guinea and the Pacific.

We have a range of expertise, machinery and equipment for growers and agribusiness. Plus options for downstream processing ventures, marketing and freight capacity to move produce and products to buyers in Australia and overseas.

Some of the products that can be readily supplied are:

Seeds | Fertilisers | Equipment for livestock and cropping | Equipment for harvesting, processing & storage
| Equipment for tree and grass maintenance | Solar equipment to provide consistent power supply
| Equipment for fishing and aquaculture | Temperature controlled equipment including : Refrigeration, freezers
and air conditioning | Storage structures | Transport from trucks to quad bikes

Tropical Expertise

Because we grow a range of crops here in Cairns we have lots of experience to be able to train and pass on knowledge about:

Planning and development of crops and plantations

Harvesting and transport systems

Production to environmental certifications

Design and implementation of solar and other renewable systems

Design and installation of refrigeration systems

Landscaping and terraforming

Agribusiness

TAFE and other institutions offer short and long term education options to help assist learning. There are options for Papua New Guinea and Pacific Island nationals to work together with farmers and agribusinesses to learn new systems.

We grow so many of the same crops and fruits in such a similar climate that what you learn is totally relevant and applicable for your own farm or industry.
